About Time By Neil Hilborn

Neil Hilborn returns with the poignant and profound collection About Time. Balancing between devastation and perseverance, About Time shares the struggle to maintain mental health during the recent global crises. Fans new and old will be stunned by Hilborn's third collection. Continuing in the legacy of his previous works, About Time is hot soup for the troubled soul and absolutely cannot be missed.

Where I Dry the Flowers By Ollie Schminkey

If Ollie Schminkey's Dead Dad Jokes asks the question, "What was it like to watch my father die?", Where I Dry the Flowers asks "How did watching someone die teach me how to live?" This unrestrained and raw sophomore collection explores themes of grief, healing, and forgiveness while refusing to sacrifice the hard truths that come with addiction, care taking, and the death of a loved one. Ollie tells readers that these emotions are okay, no matter how conflicting and confusing they may be.

Paperback | 5.5 x 8.5 | 104 pages | Released: July 02, 2024

I'd Rather Be Destroyed By Zach Goldberg

Zach Goldberg's I'd Rather Be Destroyed carves straight to the core of self-destruction. This collection rebuilds the self from its broken pieces. Playing with dynamic and experimental forms, Goldberg explores modern Jewish identity, familial and cultural inheritances, and managing mental health. Its historical and religious allusions navigate modern and personal conversations, reflecting how we embrace and reject the legacies that shape us.

The Rent Eats First By Eric Sirota

Eric Sirota's The Rent Eats First snaps at capitalist systems and the so-called "American Dream" with honest anger and sharp satire. With a serious urgency and sarcastic wit, The Rent Eats First moves through personal stories and cultural moments to develop a broad picture of systemic inequality. Sirota interweaves his experiences as a public interest lawyer, representing low income tenants, with biting critique on the broader social and governmental systems that breed disparities.
